

Gisma University of Applied Sciences

Gisma University of Applied Sciences

The Language Paradox: Investigating the Myth of English-Speaking Employability in Berlin's Job Market

Ali M Abdou, Chakib Khemaissia, Nibras H Nathu, Omid Karimi

Submitted in fulfillment of the final assessment for the module
B124 Academic Writing and Research Methods

Lecturer

Vahab Esfandani

Module Leader

Prof. Dr. Sara Ramzani

SS0325

Gisma University of Applied Sciences

Gisma University of Applied Sciences

Paper Title

The Language Paradox: Investigating the Myth of English-Speaking Employability in Berlin's Job Market

Research Question

To what extent does Berlin's reputation as an international, English-friendly city align with the linguistic requirements of its actual job market for non-German speakers?

Collaborative report by:

Ali Mohamed Abdou	GH1033452
Chakib Khemaissia	GH1029909
Nibras Hassan Nathu	GH1036309
Omid Karimi	GH1038348

Submitted in fulfillment of the final assessment for the module

B124 Academic Writing and Research Methods

Lecturer

Vahab Esfandani

Module Leader

Prof. Dr. Sara Ramzani

Submission Quarter

SS0325

Declaration of Originality

This is for declaration of originality...

Abstract

This is the abstract...

Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	LaTeX Tutorial	1
1.2	Citation	1
1.3	This is Just a Template	1
2	Foundations	2
3	Related Work	3
4	Approach	4
5	Evaluation and Results	5
6	Conclusion	6

Chapter 1

Introduction

This is a chapter...

1.1 LaTeX Tutorial

You can learn LaTeX in 30 minutes here.

1.2 Citation

You can simply cite a paper [Burkov, 2019].

1.3 This is Just a Template

Feel free to modify this template based on your specific research needs and feedback from your supervisor.

Chapter 2

Foundations

This is a chapter...

Chapter 3

Related Work

This is a chapter...

Chapter 4

Approach

This is a chapter...

Chapter 5

Evaluation and Results

This is a chapter...

Chapter 6

Conclusion

This is a chapter...

References

- [Burkov, 2019] Burkov, A. (2019). The hundred-page machine learning book, volume 1. Andriy Burkov Quebec City, QC, Canada.